

'Is violence ever justified?'

A Lecture by Archbishop Desmond Tutu

Archbishop Desmond Tutu will deliver The Forgiveness Project's inaugural annual lecture and be joined for a panel discussion by Pat Magee, convicted of planting the 1984 Brighton Bomb, Jo Berry, daughter of Sir Anthony Berry MP who was killed in the bombing, and Mary Kayitesi Blewitt, who lost more than 50 members of her family in the Rwandan genocide. Chaired by BBC broadcaster Edward Stourton

Event sponsored by Anglo American

Tickets £35, £25, £10

By telephone 020 7222 1061

Online www.sjss.org.uk

By fax 020 7233 1618

By Post St. John's, Smith Square,
London SW1P 3HA.

Please enclose SAE.

Debit/Credit Cards MasterCard, Visa and Maestro accepted.

Booking fees By telephone £2.00 per transaction, (£1.50 to Friends of St. John's).

Online £1.50 per transaction. General Manager: Paul Davies

The Forgiveness Project is a charity working at a local, national, and international level to help build a future free of conflict and violence, by healing the wounds of the past. It aims to create a dialogue and promote understanding of forgiveness and conflict resolution by collecting and sharing personal stories, and providing outreach programmes for schools, prisons, faith communities, and any group wishing to explore the nature of forgiveness, whether in the wider political context or within their own lives. The Forgiveness Project has no political or religious affiliations.

This inaugural lecture, given by the charity's patron, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, is the first in The Forgiveness Project's annual lecture series exploring the nature of forgiveness and conflict resolution.

The FORGIVENESS project

If you are unable to attend the event but would like to make a donation, you can do so at <http://theforgivenessproject.com/donate/>

The Forgiveness Project - Registered Charity No. - 1103922